Section 4: A lecture about sleep

Man: Good afternoon, everyone. Today I'm going to talk about sleep, and why it is so important for students.

Man: Let's start with how much sleep we need[31,32]. Most adults[31] need between seven and nine hours each night 31: 7 . Teenagers[32] need more, up to ten hours 32: 10 , because their bodies are still growing.

Man: What happens while we sleep[33]? During deep[33] sleep, the body repairs itself and produces growth hormone 33: GROWTH . This is one reason why children and teenagers need so much sleep[34].

Man: What happens if we don't sleep enough? The most common problem for students[34] is that they find it difficult to concentrate in class 34: CONCENTRATE . They also forget more easily and feel tired and unhappy.

Man: Many people have trouble falling asleep, and one big reason is the blue[35] light[35] from phones 35: PHONES . Looking at your phone in bed tells your brain that it is still daytime, so it is harder to relax.

Man: So what can you do? First, think about what you drink[36]. Coffee can stay in your body for up to six hours 36: A , so try not to drink it in the evening[36]. Water or warm milk is a better choice.

Man: Second, try to go to bed at the same time every day 37: B , even at weekends. A regular routine is the single best[37] habit[37] for good sleep. Sleeping late on Sundays makes Monday morning harder.

Man: Third, if you feel sleepy in the afternoon[38], a short nap can help. But keep it to twenty minutes 38: A . A long[38]er nap can make it difficult to sleep at night.

Man: Finally, your bedroom[39] matters. The best[39] room for sleeping is cool, dark and quiet 39: B .
